A SYNOPSIS

Of the Agreement in Regard to the Venezuela Dispute.

The Tribunal is Directed to Examine All the Facts Necessary

To Decide the Controversy—Arbitrators May Give Effect to the Rights of Settlers in Establishing the Facts—Ordinary Rules of Law to Prevail.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The Chronicle Saturday publishes what it claims to be a complete summary of the agreement regarding the Venezuela question. The article is entitled, "Heads of a proposed agreement between Venezuela and Great Britain for the settlement of the Venezuela boundary question, as agreed upon between Great Britain and the United States of America."

There are four heads. Under the first the appointment of an arbitration tribunal to determine the boundary is provided for. Under the second provision is made for the appointment of a tribunal of five members, two to be nominated by the supreme court of the United States, two by the supreme court of Great Britain, while the fifth member is to be a jurist selected by the other members.

In the event of these four members failing to agree upon the selection of the fifth member, King Oscar, of Sweden and Norway, will select him. The fifth member will be president of the tribunal and he may be a judge of either the supreme court of the United States or the similar court of Great Britain.

Under the third head the tribunal is directed to examine all the facts necessary to decide the controversy regarding the territory known to belong to the United Netherlands and the kingdom of Spain when Great Britain acquired Guiana.

Under the fourth head it is provided that the arbitrators shall ascertain all the facts necessary to arrive at a proper decision. They must be governed in their findings by three short rules, the most important of which provides a prescription of 50 years. The arbitrators may give effect to the rights of settlers. In establishing the facts the ordinary rules of law shall prevail.

The agreement is dated November 12, 1896, and is signed by Secretary of State Olney and Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador to the United States.

The Chronicle adds that the foregoing will be the basis of the Anglo-Venezuelan treaty.

Treating of the settlement of the Venezuela question, the Daily News, in its issue Saturday, will comment upon certain reports that Lord Salisbury climbed down from the position first assumed by him, which was that there was "nothing to arbitrate," and also upon the complaints of some French and German critics that Lord Salisbury had improperly exalted the United States.

The statement that the finishing of the arbitration court must be completed early in February is unfounded. It is scarcely to be expected that a decision will be reached short of a year.

ELECTION IN UTAH.

It Will Be Contested on the Ground That It Was Not Held According to the State Constitution.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 14.—The late election in Utah is to be contested on the ground that it was conducted contrary to the requirements of the state constitution, which provides for a secret ballot. The system adopted was a variety of the Australian ballot method, but was so arranged that the registered number of the voter was placed on the corner of his ballot by the election judges and by reference to the ballots and the registration lists it is easy to find out just how every voter cast his ballot. The contestants are some of the defeated candidates and present office holders, and they say they are not seeking personal gain, but as the majorities in favor of the successful candidates are so enormous, even if the courts should hold the election to be legal, they will resign and allow those who received the majority of the votes to assume the offices. Their object in making the contest is to prevent complications in the future and to have the system of election placed on a legal basis.

The presidential electors and congressmen so far have not become parties to the suit, but the ruling of the court, whatever it may be, will doubtless apply to them as to all other candidates, and what the result in their cases would be in case the courts rule the election illegal, no one seems to know.

THE CREW SAFE.

The Steamer Acadia Went Ashore on Michipicoten Island in a Storm.

SALT ST. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 14.—Capt. John Clifford, of the propeller Acadia, which left Fort William, Ont., November 4, and which was long overdue at this port, reached here in a sail boat. He reports that the Acadia went ashore on Michipicoten island in a blinding snow storm and heavy gale on Thursday, November 5, when she was about twenty-four hours out from Fort William. All of the crew reached shore in safety and Capt. Clifford reports all well. The Acadia is a total wreck, however. She had a cargo of 25,000 bushels of wheat, besides miscellaneous freight.

The report that the Texas and Pacific railroad is likely soon to pass from the control of the Gould interests into the Rock Island is emphatically denied.

John Y. Fister, secretary of the New Jersey state republican committee and editor of several of the Leslie publications, died at his home in Newark, N. J., Friday afternoon, of pneumonia.

At Grand Rapids, Mich., Appel Bros., clothiers, filed trust mortgages for $39,000 with the Peninsular Trust company for the benefit of their creditors, which are principally Chicago firms.

A special from Saltillo, Mexico, says that John F. McEwitt, an Englishman, while on his way from Escalon station to Sierra Mojada, was attacked by bandits and killed. He was then robbed of $2,000, which he was taking to Sierra Mojada to be used in paying off miners. The assassination has caused much excitement.

As a result of the election W. H. Bradley has reopened the Mitchell hotel, Tomahawk, Wis., one of the finest hotels in northern Wisconsin, and will also start up the Bay mills, running day and night until spring, in order to have stock of lumber to supply the demand, thus giving employment to a large force of men in the mills and woods.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, consul general to Cuba, says that he has no aspirations for the governorship or other political preferment in Virginia. The fact is Gen. EXPRESS WAGONS

John R. McLean's Great Newspaper.

Without a single exception, there is beyond doubt no greater or more popular newspaper in the United States than the Cincinnati Enquirer; or a more successful publisher than its proprietor, Mr. John R. McLean.

The old-time prices for the Daily Enquirer have been maintained, and its circulation largely increased each year; hard times and cheaper journals failing to arrest its onward march and high appreciation of the public for its true worth and merit.

The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of the campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 200,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own opinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business interests catered to, which a cheaper journal cannot afford.

The very liberal support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes it incumbent upon the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as those of greater magnitude.
